

Software Overview

FlashLink® Program Manager

FlashLink Program Manager is a user-friendly and feature-packed software for programming and downloading the FlashLink Mini and USB Reusable Data Loggers. It is available from the DeltaTrak web site and a license must be purchased with a number that is required in order to complete the installation. The set-up wizard and import function become active only when a FlashLink Reusable Logger is connected to the PC via USB port. Logging options are programmable, including sample intervals, high/low alarm limits, alarm delays, and display scale. This Windows-based software allows users to save configuration settings which can be uploaded to another logger. Recorded data is displayed in graph and table formats as secure a PDF, and saved to the local hard drive along with a CSV file. These secure reports include complete temperature history with summary data and analysis, including alarm events, and they can be conveniently shared by email. FlashLink Program Manager is simple to install and has a content-sensitive Help file so users can easily search for information by using the F1 key from any screen.

Key Features

- Enhanced, robust data analysis capability
- Supports multiple languages and time zones
- User-programmable logging options
- Comprehensive Help file
- Automatically generates secure PDF
- CSV files allow for further analysis of data
- FDA Title 21 CFR Part 11 compliant
- Compatible with 64-bit operating systems

Advantages and Benefits

- Perform detailed analysis and comparison of data from multiple loggers at the same time
- Multiple language options and time zone settings
- Full featured report includes graph, data table and alarm zones
- Automatically calculates statistics, degree*minutes and MKT (Mean Kinetic Temperature)
- Logger serial number saved to each file for traceability
- Upload files to ColdTrak Data Central to retrieve, analyze and share data globally 24/7
- Data management system allows storage and retrieval of temperature history, data analysis and logger configuration information

DeltaTrak® is a leading innovator of cold chain management, environment monitoring and food safety solutions for the food, pharmaceutical, life sciences and chemical industries. Contact DeltaTrak by phone at 1-800-962-6776 or by email at marketing@deltatrak.com. Additional information can be found at www.deltatrak.com.

